ABOUT THE THEME

Transgender people or individuals of any age or sex whose appearance, personal characteristics or behaviour differ from stereo types as to how men and women are “supposed” to be. Transgender people have existed in every culture, race & class since the dawn of society that nomenclature “transgender” is the invention of this modern world.

In a landmark judgement, the Supreme Court categorically has laid down that “hijras” or transgender constitute “third gender” neither male nor female having their own valid entitlement for all human rights like all other human beings relieving them from their dilemma of what to mention in the gender column of any application i.e. whether male or female as they are neither male nor female.

The Supreme Court has observed that the third gender cannot be discriminated against with respect to equal opportunities in education, employment and other spheres that their claim must be considered at par with male and female.
